“ Dear Sherrie, I'm so sorry for your loss. I worked with Clinton at Guyandotte and Davis Creek and considered him a good friend. I always appreciated his smile and friendly personality. His Christian values and polite manners made him a great coworker. He was a gifted writer and storyteller, and will be thought of fondly and sadly missed. May God bless you and comfort you, Joyce Webb

“ Sherrie, I was so sad to hear of Clinton's passing. We were such good friends at Davis Creek, and we reconnected when I was a substitute SLP at Guyandotte. I will always remember his zest for life and for serving the Lord. He was a talented writer and teacher.
I was one of the first people to read his book and his poetry. He loved you dearly and spoke of you often. It is comforting to know that he is in Heaven praising God.

“ I was shocked beyond belief when I read of Clinton's passing. Someone that didn't drink or smoke and was as healthy as a horse. He was a wonderful person, and I loved his stories. He was so good with children and really cared about them. He was a great teacher. I loved his sense of humor, and we had a lot of laughs. What is the saying about the good die young because he was one sweet person. I am so sorry Sherrie you lost your husband and your best friend.

Sherrie, I was a virtual teacher with Clint last year. I got to know him well as we had students in common. He was such a good man. I scolded him every time he tried to refer to his advanced age and told him not to act like an old man!!! Because he wasn’t! He truly loved you and spoke so highly of you. Any time we saw each other at the end of the day, he would say, ‘I’m going to pick up the woman.’
And, for him, you were THE WOMAN.
How blessed you were to have had so many years together.
With high regards, Judith Walker
